

APPLETON ESTATE OPENS DOORS TO RENOVATED WORLD-CLASS RUM EXPERIENCE

Appleton Estate unveils upgrades to its St. Elizabeth landmark, now dedicated to world's first female master blender

ST. ELIZABETH, JAMAICA (JANUARY 18, 2018) – Appleton Estate®, the oldest continuously-run sugar Estate and distillery in Jamaica, recently opened the doors to its newly renovated, world-class visitor facility. The Joy Spence Appleton Estate Rum Experience (JSAERE), formerly known as the Appleton Estate Rum Tour, is an interactive visitor experience celebrating the Estate's history, heritage and commitment to quality, as well as that of its namesake Joy Spence, the first woman to hold the position of Master Blender in the spirits industry.

Campari Group, Appleton's parent company, proudly invested $7.2 million into the project, which spans approximately 24,000 square feet of new building construction, as well as 27,000 square feet of outdoor historic Estate grounds. It is expected to draw thousands of visitors and significantly drive economic growth to the region through jobs and tourism.

During the fully interactive experience, visitors will gain insight into traditional distillation methods, try their hand at time-honored methods of cane-juicing and sugar boiling, sample fresh sugar cane juice, visit the barrel house where the rum is aged, and fully immerse themselves in all aspects of the rum production process.

"For more than 265 years, Appleton Estate has been a stronghold in the St. Elizabeth community, so we were proud to involve so many local hands in this project," said Bob Kunze-Concewitz, CEO of Campari Group. "We've leveraged Jamaican craftsmanship and artistry with new technologies to create a truly memorable, one of a kind experience – showcasing our passion for rum and a love of the land from which it is produced. Since Campari Group acquired Appleton Estate in 2012, we have continued to make strategic investments such as this to ensure this beloved brand continues to grow around the world."

"This dedication is among the greatest honours of my life," said Master Blender Joy Spence. "Rum is my first love, and Jamaica is my second. We've built a place here where those loves are combined and beautifully shared with visitors from all around the world. I can't wait for everyone to see the new crown jewel of the South Coast."

In addition to the outdoor attractions and expansive new Estate tour, visitors can experience:

- A new welcome pavilion with a bar as well as new ticketing, artifact displays, tour maps, and guest services
- A 3,000-square-foot theater, with a newly produced custom film for the Estate tour

- A 20-person VIP tasting room
- Three separate tasting rooms, each accommodating 35 guests and housing their own bar
